

Direction of the Report Assignment (システム工学実験)

K. Ohki

Due date: Dec. 17 (Th.) 13:00

How to submit: email attached with your report (it should be less than 10MB)

How to write: use the LaTeX template and style file that are on Panda. You can only use English or Japanese.

Subjects: the subject of the report is your project (自由課題). You are required to suggest your own idea, tackle it, and write the report.

You may do the project with others, but even if in the case, the report is written by each of you.

Some other mandatories:

It is necessary that the project is related to the experiment (for example, data from the flexible link experiment are used, do some experiments, and so on).

If you do the experiments with others, you have to write their name on the report. The report must be written logically and scientifically. It is required that, for example, students who do not take the class can do the same experiments if they read your report.

After your submission, the report will be returned with comments by email in a few days. Please follow the direction in the mail.

Feel free to ask how to write a good report even before submitting the paper.
